

Japanese Were Prepared for 'Pearl Harbor'

AP Correspondents Tell How War Lords Set the Stage

(Editor's Note: How Tokyo's war lords planned their nation into war against the United States and Great Britain is told from two vantage points in the following dispatches. Morris J. Harris was chief of the Associated Press Bureau in Shanghai; Max Hill was chief of the Associated Press bureau in Tokyo. Informed at the outbreak of war, they were taken to Laureano Marques last week and exchanged for Japanese nationals who had been interned in the United States. With other homeward bound internees, they sailed yesterday aboard the liner Gripsholm for New York.)

By MORRIS J. HARRIS
Laureano Marques, Portuguese East Africa, July 23.—(Delayed)—(AP)—To China and her millions the outbreak of war between the United States and Japan was complete surprise—but not to the Japanese and their henchmen occupied areas there.

A million Japanese soldiers and another million Japanese civilians in China were in the know. And one man they kept their mouths shut.

The revelation of how Japanese authorities had marshalled the lessons of their countrymen in China into regimented secrecy came out after Pearl Harbor.

Then they unpocketed detailed plans of the war's production which, of course, included the use of uncounted thousands of Japanese "civilians" in China, aiding the armed forces in a war of attrition.

Pearl Harbor stunned a majority of Americans in China, just as it did the people at home. The enemy's initial successes caused amazement and alarm over the safety of Hawaii; wonderment about defense preparations at the mid-Pacific outpost; and about that the army, navy and air force were doing that December morning.

Japanese propaganda played upon the theme that the defenders were out the night before. To the elated Japanese the lick often in at Pearl Harbor was the achievement of achievements in their empire's history.

To the more sober Japanese the news that blasted Pearl Harbor started a fire which will either take the Japanese empire the world's greatest or break Japan utterly.

No Defeat Possible
To fanatical Japanese who heartily hurl themselves at death there's no defeat possible. Japan is everything, Japan is divine, therefore she cannot lose.

The minute Tokyo flashed the news of the attack, Japan's long-expected machine in occupied China went into action swiftly and verily.

With amazing promptness and precision the Japanese descended at the early morning hours upon allied nationals, their institutions and offices throughout occupied China.

The Associated Press office in Shanghai, like many others there, was sealed by Japanese who arrived with minutely detailed diagrams of every establishment.

By noon everything American, British and Dutch had been bagged. In Shanghai army and navy endarmes plastered up thousands of big notices telling everybody how to behave. The month December had been printed on the notices but the date was left blank.

The neatly printed posters, braced in correct English, bore no evidence of hasty preparation, some even had been yellowed from exposure.

It was afterward that the gen-arms appeared, arresting correspondents, bankers, educators and merchants in an effort to prove their filmy contention that every American in China was a spy.

As the hostilities progressed enemy nationals throughout occupied China felt the increasing impact of war. By midsummer the warfare and safety of those remaining behind was becoming increasingly grim.

German SS Troops From Russia Are Brought to France

Hitler Seems to Fear Establishment of Second Front

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor
German dispatches said today that Field Marshal Gen. Gerd von Rundstedt was revising his whole plan of defense against an allied second front in western Europe, while in Paris German SS (elite guard) troops from the Russian front paraded through the streets en route to posts along the English channel invasion coast.

Advices from Berlin said the Nazi press was assuring the German people that any second-front attempt could be defeated, but for the first time acknowledged that such an effort could be expected.

While Germany thus displayed open concern over the prospect of an allied invasion, the RAF's big bombers, perhaps 600 strong, spread fresh ruin in the battered city of Hamburg, Germany's greatest port, before dawn today.

On the Soviet front, there were signs of a slight stiffening by Field Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's Red armies against the Nazi tide sweeping into the Caucasus, but the crisis remained acute.

DNB, the German news agency, announced that Adolf Hitler's own SS troops were parading through Paris—ostensibly to show that Germany was ready to combat a second front, and also, perhaps, to cow rebellious Frenchmen who might rise to aid the allies.

DNB said the SS forces were equipped with "new vehicles and new weapons."

The troops were described as "important contingents."

Large Forces in West
Nazi-inspired estimates of German forces still remaining in the west have varied from 750,000 to 1,800,000 men, spread along the coastline from Norway to southern France.

"They are equipped with new vehicles and new weapons," DNB said.

Dispatches from Bern, Switzerland, quoted German military quarters in Berlin as saying they believed an invasion attempt would be made by the allies.

Simultaneously, the Berlin radio asserted that more than 200,000 skilled workers "have used a half-million tons of concrete monthly for fortifications along the (English) channel coast."

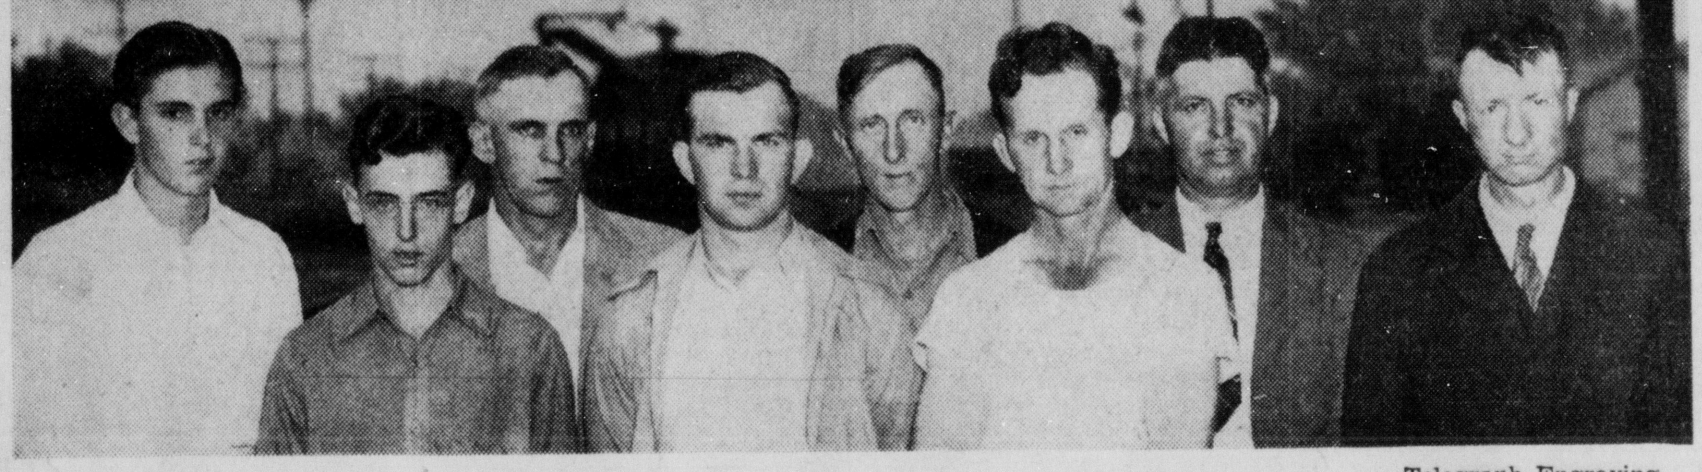

Behind all those outward signs of nervousness in Berlin, allied observers saw two possibilities:

1. Nazi propaganda was trying to conceal a condition of only "skeleton defense" left in Western Europe as a result of manpower drained for use against Russia, thus hoping to bluff the allies out of an invasion attempt.

2. Germany was genuinely alarmed and was rushing preparations to meet a cross-channel offensive.

Speeding Planes Now Able to Pick Up Air Commandos

Richard DuPont Devises Scheme for Picking Up Gliders

By BILL BONI
Wide World Military Editor
Wilmington, Del., July 29.—(Wide World)—Ever been picked up by a plane?

I was, and our glider troops—commandos of the air—soon may be, too.

For if the army air forces, the army ground forces and All American Aviation, Inc., have their way, we not only will be able to deliver our gliders (either to drop troops behind the enemy lines, or supplies in places where airplanes can't land) but we'll be able to bring them back.

This is actually All American's baby. If you want to get personal, it is the pride and joy of 32-year-old Richard C. Dupont, president of the outfit. What the company is doing at the moment has the wholehearted endorsement and backing of the army. For a little more than three years AAA has been giving cities and towns off the airline path daily deliveries and pickups of air mail. Today the company is serving 122 cities and towns in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, New York, and Delaware.

By a system of booms, releases and reels, All American's Stinson monoplane can fly low over any one of their stations, drop a container of mail and pick up another, heel that in and fly on to the next station.

Process Described
With improvements, that process now has been adapted to picking up gliders, only three place gliders for the present, but even a Stinson with a top of 450 horsepower can pick up two of those, one at a time. There is no apparent reason why more powerful tow planes could not pick up the nine and 15-man gliders our army is getting and the even larger ones we may expect it to have in the future.

From an air trooper's viewpoint it works like this:
You get into your parachute harness and climb into the glider, a converted Piper Cub, with engine removed and an extra seat in its place. Ahead of you is DuPont, who'll do the piloting. Behind you is another passenger.

Some 200 feet ahead of the glider are two 10-foot poles. A line of nylon rope, resilient and strong, is hooked to the nose of the glider. That line ends in a loop, and the top of the loop is stretched across the tops of the poles.

Back over your shoulder somewhere you hear the tow plane coming. It levels off as if for a landing but the pilot keeps her wheeling at anywhere from 100 to 130 M. P. H. He also drops a boom, which has a hook on the end of it that is attached to another strong line leading from a power reel in the plane.

No Shock
The boom hits the rope stretched across the uprights, the rope slides down to the bottom of the boom and into the hook, an action which disengages hook and pickup rope from the boom and sets the winch in motion.

To absorb the initial shock the reel first pays out extra line. It does that so well that I didn't feel (Continued on Page 6)

Local Beef Supply Is Reduced 75 per cent

Beef eaters in Dixon and vicinity are beginning to realize the nation wide shortage of this important food, and for several hours yesterday, certain choice steaks could not be obtained. At the local markets today, it was stated that the local supply had been reduced more than 75 per cent and with no immediate relief in sight.

Limited shipments replenished the demand to some extent today but the indication pointed to the necessity of a change to satisfy those who are heavy users of beef cuts. While the supply of beef has been greatly reduced, butchers reported no ceiling on pork, lamb or cold meats.

Charge Riefler With Forgery

Monmouth, Ill., July 29.—(AP)—A warrant charging forgery and naming Carl J. Riefler, missing insurance official, has been obtained by the Illinois Bankers Life Insurance Company.

President E. H. Henning of the company obtained the warrant late yesterday from a justice of the peace. Riefler, who lived in Springfield, has been missing since last Thursday afternoon.

Henning announced that an incomplete audit of Riefler's books showed a shortage of $15,000. He was manager of the policyholders service bureau.

FBI Conference Scheduled for Dixon Tomorrow

Will Hold Vice Control Discussion at State Hospital

Chicago, July 29.—(AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation today carried to Elgin, Ill., its educational campaign among local and state police and health officials for the control of prostitution in the vicinity of army and navy posts.

A. H. Johnson, special agent in charge of the Chicago FBI office, said he was making no threats but was informing local officials that if a vice condition developed around an encampment and they failed to correct it, the government would invoke the May act and turn the cleanup work over to the FBI.

Yesterday Johnson discussed the matter with some 85 officials of Cook and Lake counties at the Chicago State hospital. Today the conference was scheduled at the Elgin State hospital and tomorrow there will be a similar meeting at the Dixon, Ill., State hospital.

With the Great Lakes Naval training station and Chicago teeming with sailors and soldiers, Johnson said prostitution and venereal diseases could become a serious health menace to the military forces unless strict control were maintained.

May Act Has Teeth

He said "the May act has plenty of teeth; it prohibits prostitution in a military post area and it reaches not only the soliciting prostitute but the procurer, the pander, the madam and even the owner of property used for vice."

The act has been invoked in 31 counties in Tennessee in the area where Camp Forrest is situated, he added. The FBI is policing the area and among 52 prostitutes arrested, 27 were found to be syphilitic.

Ensign Hugh C. Vail of the office of naval intelligence told the group yesterday that "the promiscuous young girl roaming about naval areas gives us our biggest trouble. They are a dire threat, much more so than the professional prostitute."

Other speakers at the series of conferences included Capt. D. C. Elliott, chief of venereal disease control for Illinois and Wisconsin of the U. S. Public Health Service, and Rodney H. Brandon, director of the Illinois Department of Public Welfare.

'We Must Oppose Efforts to Remake Basic Form of Govt.'

Salem, Ill., July 29.—(AP)—Governor Green said today that Americans during war time must oppose any effort "to re-make our basic form of government."

In an address prepared for delivery at "Republican Day" ceremonies at the annual Marion County Soldiers' and Sailors' reunion, the governor declared that "the principles of wise government, and of economical government, shall not be forsaken even in the emergency of war."

"No more important job has been given you," he added, "than to determine that even while all of us are fighting and working to make America victorious any influences which might seek to re-make our basic form of government do not succeed."

"We have heard it stated that during the emergency all acts of government should be accepted without question of their wisdom and effectiveness. But I am sure that there are many who ask if that is the wise and constructive way along which our form of government must march."

Chicago, July 29.—(AP)—Illinois draft boards were urged yesterday by state Selective Service Director Paul G. Armstrong to concentrate on classifying new registrants in the younger and older age groups, rather than review the status of men in the original 21 to 35 registration.

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

We now that if Hitler can smash the Russian army and make conquest of the Caucasus and middle east during the few remaining weeks of good fighting weather, he will have acquired resources and strategic advantages which will give him a tremendous, and perhaps unconquerable, strength as over-lord of Europe.

That's the prize for which he is said to be prepared to sacrifice a million young Germans. And if you believe—as he does—in trafficking with the devil, then the prize isn't too high. What are a million or even ten million youth as compared with an empire comprising all Europe—and maybe far more?

We know, too, that if the Russians can muster the strength to halt the invaders where they now are, we shall have the Fuehrer as neatly on the roasting fork as the devil can hope to get him in the long run.

But what happens if the Nazi leader is only partially successful? Where will he stand, for instance, if he succeeds in cutting Russia proper off from the Caucasian oil and other resources, and its lifeline to the Persian gulf, but fails to secure those resources for himself?

Things might turn out that way. This isn't to say we must abandon hope that the Reds can stop the Nazi rush before it has gone much farther. Still, there's no use blinding ourselves to the fact that the mighty striking power being shown by the Germans may enable them at least to throw a barrier across the mouth of the Caucasus.

However, it's one thing for Hitler to establish such a barrier, and it's quite another for him to fight his way down the Caucasian isthmus to Aladdin's lamp. Soon the great, level plain of the northern Caucasus will give way to the mighty mountain range which reaches across the Black sea to the Caspian. There are routes a-pace, but they are narrow and it's hard to believe that the Reds couldn't defend them.

So let's say the Nazi chief has struck a nasty blow at Russia by establishing this barrier but is himself blocked from fresh resources. What then?

Well, viewing the question through the eyes of experts who have analyzed all aspects of the situation, we can say that Hitler's strength will deteriorate while that of the allies increases vastly. This is so because the war already has run two years longer than Hitler expected, and he is getting to the bottom of the huge supplies which he piled up over several years in preparation for war. There is no way of replenishing those supplies unless he can break through to the outside world for them.

Only the other day British-American agricultural experts in London stated that the Germans this winter will face the most serious food situation they have experienced since the war started. The reich and Nazi-controlled Europe will harvest a crop 15 to 20 per cent below normal this year, and the deficit may exceed even that.

The horny hand of hunger rests heavy on much of the continent. Not only are supplies terribly low, but there has been widespread destruction of the means of replenishing them. Germany is better off than most, because she has plundered the conquered countries, but the lean cows have devoured the fat and the seven years of plenty are gone.

RAF Batters Port of Hamburg Second Time in 3 Nights

Thirty-two of Raiding Planes Lost; Damage 'Ruinous'

By The Associated Press
London, July 29.—Hamburg, Germany's greatest port and most heavily guarded city, was battered by the RAF last night for the second time in three nights with a ruinous rain of explosives and incendiaries in a raid perhaps again on a 600-plane scale.

The thunder of bombs in the already hard-hit submarine building center drove home Air Marshal Sir Arthur T. Harris' grim promise: "We are going to scourge the Third Reich from end to end."

The raid, the RAF announced, cost 32 bombers—three more than the number of planes lost in the Sunday night attack which returned pilots compared in destructive force to the 1,000-plane bombing of Bremen last night.

The RAF statement that the Sunday night losses were less than five per cent of the total number of planes indicated that 600 raiders participated then, and again last night if losses were on the same scale.

Report 45 Downed
(The German high command said overnight British air attacks on Hamburg, mainly with incendiary bombs, caused damage to public buildings, heavily hit Eppendorf hospital, and inflicted casualties on the civilian population, the German high command declared today, but reported 45 of the raiders were shot down.)

Meanwhile, Hurricane fighter bombers patrolling the German-held coast were said to have damaged a 300 to 400-ton steamer and a motor torpedo boat, and probably damaged three other vessels.

An RAF account of last night's raid said:
"There was much heavy cloud over the city but large fires were seen by a number of the crews who went down below the cloud in face of fierce opposition from anti-aircraft guns and searchlights to bomb from a low level."

The air ministry announced that other pilots flying Hurricanes, Bostons and Havocs damaged air-dromes, railways and German-controlled communications in northern France, Belgium and Holland and attacked channel shipping last night.

Three fighters were lost, presumably on these forays.
Only Sunday night some 600 RAF planes dropped two-ton explosive bombs and 175,000 incendiaries on Hamburg, the largest seaport on the European continent and the pride of every German.

Volunteers of America Tag Day on Saturday

Mrs. Evelyn Walters, field representative of the Volunteers of America, from Chicago, was in Dixon's yesterday to make plans for the group's annual Tag Day which will be held Saturday. Miss Geneva Tally will be in charge of local arrangements.

Mrs. Walters also announced an arrangement whereby the organization gives monthly gift boxes to boys in service. Each boy who would like to take advantage of this opportunity must have a sponsor.

The sponsor, some responsible person who can vouch for the soldier, writes to the Volunteers of America office at 2841 West Washington street in Chicago asking that a box be sent to some particular boy.

A box—containing envelopes, paper, candy, cookies, cigarettes, gum, toothbrush, shaving cream, shoe polish, razor blades, and countless other items, is sent to the boy, together with a questionnaire. By filling out the questionnaire, the boy notifies the group what articles he would like to have included in the next gift box sent him.

Nazi Spies Claim Military Hearing 'Unconstitutional'

War-time Powers of President Challenged in Supreme Court

New York, July 29.—(AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced today that it had seized 10 more enemy aliens, including Maria Sichert Kerling, wife of Edward Kerling, one of the eight alleged Nazi spy-saboteurs on trial in Washington before a military commission.

FBI agents said the 10 aliens were taken immediately to Ellis Island.

P. E. Foxworth, FBI assistant director in the New York area, said that one Hungarian and two Rumanians were among those picked up. The three were the first of those two nationalities to be taken into custody here as enemy aliens since the recent presidential proclamation was issued.

The raids were conducted in the Bronx, Manhattan, Queens and Brooklyn.

Washington, July 29.—(AP)—Counsel for seven of the eight alleged Nazi saboteurs being tried by a military commission told the supreme court today that President Roosevelt's proclamation denying them access to the civil courts was "totally invalid and unconstitutional."

This challenge of the war time powers of the chief executive and commander-in-chief was made in a brief in support of a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

In effect, the defendants' army officer counsel were asking the court to take the prisoners out of the hands of the commission appointed by Mr. Roosevelt and let them be tried in the civil courts.

The request was made at an extraordinary session of the nation's highest tribunal convened on call of Chief Justice Stone. The state supreme court chamber was filled by persons eager to have a spectator's part in the unusual event.

The defense attack brought a reply from prosecution counsel headed by Attorney General Biddle that:

"Military trial for the petitioners endangers no traditional civil liberty. These German soldiers have already been given rights which no American would receive in Germany, and now ask for 'constitutional' privileges which we do not allow our own soldiers."

Justices Murphy and Douglas were absent from the bench when the proceedings started. The chief justice announced that Douglas was en route and would participate.

There was no announced explanation of Murphy's absence but it had been speculated previously that he might disqualify himself as he has been serving in the army.

Addressing himself to Attorney General Biddle, Stone said he was informed that his son (Major Laurence H. Stone) was assigned to the defense staff and asked Biddle if it were true.

Biddle replied that the defense and prosecution staffs were agreed that Major Stone did not participate in the habeas corpus proceedings, adding that "counsel for both sides join in urging you to sit."

"You may proceed," the chief justice said by way of ending any question as to whether he would participate.

The two United States army colonels defending the prisoners, Cassius M. Dowell and Kenneth C. Royall, told the court:

"May we respectfully suggest that the instant case presents a real test of our democratic form of government and its judicial system. It is true but still true to say that the soundness of any system of government proves itself in the hard cases where the real ability of a government and its judicial system to protect the rights of an unpopular minority."

Were All Pure At Heart
The defense disclosed that Justice James W. Morris, of the United States district court for the District of Columbia, denied yesterday an application of the petitioners for permission to present petitions for writs of habeas corpus.

Stork Party

Mrs. Donald Ambler entertained a large number of guests at her home Saturday afternoon at a stork party in honor of Mrs. Carl Eich. The rooms were decorated with beautiful spring and summer flowers. Each table had a tiny stork in the middle surrounded by flowers. The afternoon was spent with the ladies playing aeroplane bunco and the guest of honor received many lovely gifts. Those present for the delightful afternoon were: Mrs. Meyers and Mrs. Swayze of Earlville; Mrs. William Otterbach of Compton; Mrs. Shirley Wielert of DeKalb; Mrs. R. W. Priekorn, Mrs. Harold Shuetz, Mrs. Mabel Worsley, Mrs. William Nickels, Mrs. Theodore Eich, Mrs. Arthur Harper, Mrs. Clifford Worsley, Mrs. Oscar Eich, Laura and Alice Eich and the hostess, Mrs. Donald Ambler of Paw Paw.

Andrew Hanson

Andrew Hanson was born in Denmark on October 28th 1867 and passed away Wednesday, July 22nd. In his youth he followed his parents to America and worked with his father in the salt mills near Ludington, Mich. He worked also in the northern pineries in Minnesota, and later went to Chicago for some time driving a street truck in that city.

Seventeen years ago he came to this community and on the 15th of February, 1929 he came to live in Paw Paw with his brother-in-law, Wyman Davis. He has worked on farms in this community since he came.

In death he leaves a sister, Mrs. Schweibmeier and a nephew, Carl Hanson, both of Chicago, and Mr. Davis of Paw Paw. Having reached the age of 75 years, 8 months and 7 days he has now gone on to the realms of eternity.

The funeral services were held at the Tormon funeral home with Rev. J. Edward Dirks officiating. Interment took place at the Wyoming cemetery.

Old Records Wanted

The American Legion posts of the nation have launched a drive requesting that everyone gather up their old records and give them to this local committee. The drive started July 17 and ending at midnight, August 2. All good records will be sent immediately to every American camp, station, naval vessel, base, port, transport and wherever the armed forces of the U. S. are stationed. Any of the broken or cracked records will be used towards purchasing of new popular and symphonic records. No definite arrangements have been made locally but it is presumed that plans for the collection of these records will be made soon. All of us here in Paw Paw contributed to this patriotic drive. Gather up all your old records and someone will call for them soon. Remember the deadline, August 2.

Nazi Sub Commander Questions Survivors About Panama Canal

A Gulf Coast Port, July 29—(AP)—While machine guns were trained on survivors of a United States cargo ship sunk July 12 in the Caribbean, a tanned axis submarine commander questioned them about the Panama Canal but gained no information, the navy revealed here today.

Five crew members died among the 9 aboard after a torpedo struck near the after part of the vessel, tearing the stern away. The torpedoing previously had been made public by the Mexican government.

Sverre Gram, master of the ship, said that as the survivors were rowing away from the abandoned vessel, the sub surfaced approached their life boats with guns trained and demanded to know whether the vessel had passed through the Panama canal.

The master answered in the negative and the submarine officer dropped the subject.

Convicted on Charge of Poisoning Husband

Madison, Wis., July 29—(AP)—Mrs. Anna Housel, 24, who pleaded guilty to a charge of poisoning food she prepared for her husband, Warren, 37, was sentenced in Superior court yesterday to serve one to five years in the state industrial home for women at Taycheedah.

District Attorney Norris E. Maloney asked commitment to an institution where she could receive a thorough mental examination. Mrs. Housel originally was charged with attempting to commit murder, but the prosecution changed the charge to read mingling poison with food.

Officials began an investigation after Housel entered a hospital several weeks ago and examination disclosed he had been poisoned. He is convalescing.

4 Chicago Bars Closed for Selling to Minors

Chicago, July 29—(AP)—Four of the loop's swankier cocktail lounges were dark today and the liquor licenses of Albert Greenfield and Milton Schwartz, joint owners of the places, were revoked after accusations that two 18-year-old sailors had been sold drinks in one of the establishments.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly, who acted yesterday in his capacity as city liquor commissioner, said the closing order was issued on the recommendation of Police Captain Thomas Duffy after the operators of the four places had been warned repeatedly not to sell liquor to minors.

The places closed were the Rhumba Casino, 222 North State st., the Capitol Cocktail Lounge, 167 North State st.; the Hollywood Show Lounge, 87 West Randolph st., and the Brass Rail, 62 West Randolph st.

St. Charles Custodian Indicted on Charge of Aiding Boy to Escape

Geneva, Ill., July 29—(AP)—James Van Cura, 43, of Rockford, custodian at the Illinois State Training School for Boys near St. Charles, was indicted yesterday by the Kane county grand jury on a charge of aiding a youthful prisoner to escape from the school.

Officials said the youth, Leroy Withers, 18, Urbana, told Van Cura that he had "stuck up" a train and obtained $50,000 in cash and $100,000 in bonds and buried it near Hallock, Minn. The custodian was accused of taking the boy out of the school in the back of his car preparatory to driving with him to the supposed cache. He told sheriff's office personnel that he had "hoped to solve the crime."

Criticizes Republican Desire for Isolation

Salem, Ill., July 29—(AP)—A continued desire of isolationism on the part of Illinois Republicans drew criticism from Benjamin S. Adamowski, Democratic candidate for congressman-at-large, on the program of the annual Marion county Soldiers' and Sailors' reunion yesterday.

Gov. Green and Senator C. Wayland Brooks appear on today's program.

Referring to a meeting of the Republican pre-convention platform committee at Springfield, Adamowski said "they refused to recognize the need of planning for the post-war period. They were closing their eyes to the fact that we're living in the world and not in an isolated part of it."

In urging a Democratic victory this fall, Adamowski said that "we're not going to have men in Congress who will sabotage the whole post-war program as they did in 1919 and 1920."

During the SUMMER tires wear out up to 5 times as fast, unless...

...you take special precautions. How summer can greatly shorten the life of your tires is told very clearly by the thermometer on the left. It shows the average tire mileage you may expect at various temperatures. The wear at 100 degrees is 5 times greater than at 40 degrees. At 90 degrees, it's over 4 times greater, and even at 60 degrees, it's nearly twice as great. So extra care must be taken during the summer to drive more carefully and conserve rubber.

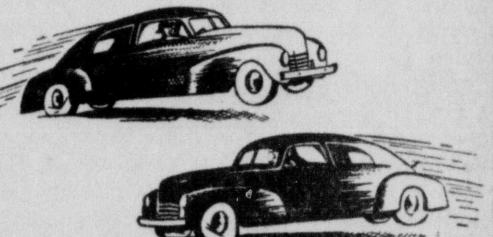

These steps are important for tire-saving this summer...

1. Beat "Heat"—tire enemy No. 1.—Rubber wears away faster when it's hot. Your tires work up their own heat—the faster you drive, the higher the heat. On hot days they don't get a chance to cool off. But you can cool them many degrees by reducing speed from 40 to 30 miles per hour. Worth while, isn't it?

2. Heat, plus Friction, a bad summer combination—Excessive, grinding friction between tire and road will materially shorten tire life. This friction becomes even more serious in summer heat. Easing up around curves lessens the "side thrust" of your tires, as well as reducing destructive tire heat. Again worth while, isn't it?

3. Tire heat increases on jack-rabbit starts... and "on-a-dime" stops—Sliding, scuffing tire motions caused by sudden braking or by sudden accelerations, cut badly into tire mileage. Tire heat becomes more intense. Help defeat tire enemy No. 1, by starting and stopping more moderately.

4. Check your "tire mileage" every 2500-5000 miles—Your Standard Oil Dealer has a Tire Mileage Gauge to estimate the approximate mileage remaining in your tires. Rotate your tires properly—put weakest tire where it gets the least wear, the best tire at point of heaviest wear, etc.

*Older tires should be switched every 2500 miles to get maximum mileage from the set.

Tire-saving is vital to victory!

Over 92% of the rubber-producing areas of the world are now under control of our enemies. We must fight them by making all rubber now in use last as long as possible until we get these areas back. Every automobile owner can do his part right now by carefully observing the tire-saving suggestions given in Standard Oil Dealers' Tire-Life Estimator Chart. Less wear on rubber means more tear on the Axis. Tire-Saving is vital to victory! Buy United States War Savings Bonds and Stamps to help guarantee victory.

Tourney Finals Are Scheduled for Tomorrow

Women golfers of the Plum Hollow Golf and Country club were playing two-ball foursomes at their weekly ladies' day yesterday with Mrs. E. B. Ryan and Mrs. James Reuter winning honors. A dozen players turned out for the luncheon and golf games.

Final matches in the July handicapped tournament are to be played off tomorrow. Mrs. Elwin Wadsworth and Mrs. Wallace Hicks, Jr. are to meet to determine the championship, and Mrs. Joseph Villiger, Jr. is to play Mrs. James Reuter in the final contest of B-flight. Mrs. Reuter defeated Mrs. E. J. Swan in the semi-finals of their bracket on Monday.

Two-ball mixed foursome play has been announced for 5 p. m. Sunday.

Mrs. Villiger, Mrs. Edward Witzleb, and Mrs. George Scott compose the August committee for ladies' sports.

MRS. LESAGE, MRS. BUCKLEY, ARE HOSTESSES

Mrs. Robert Lesage and Mrs. Frank Buckley combined their party-giving efforts yesterday. They entertained 16 guests at luncheon and bridge yesterday at the former's home, 227 Chamberlin street, and included 12 friends on their guest list for a second party today.

Mrs. Charles Lesage, Mrs. George Beier and Mrs. Gerald Jones were unwrapping score prizes at the close of the bridge games yesterday afternoon.

MRS. BALLARD IS HONOREE AT DINNER AND BRIDGE PARTY

Mrs. John Bush arranged dinner and bridge of 12 last evening as another in the series of post-nuptial courtesies for Mrs. Charles Ballard (Dagmar Petersen). She was entertaining at the home of her mother, Mrs. Robert Carey, on Carroll avenue.

The Misses Jane Smith and Agatha Toney were fortunate in the contract games. Goblets in her crystal pattern were presented to the honoree.

SUMMER GUEST RETURNS HOME

Mrs. D. A. Brazel left yesterday morning for her home in Alton, Ill., after spending the past two weeks in Dixon, as the guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. E. E. Barrowman of East Fourth street.

On Friday, Mrs. Barrowman was entertaining at luncheon and bridge at the Dixon Country club, in courtesy to her guest, Mrs. Carl Buchner, Sr. and Mrs. Harold Emmert received prizes at the card tables. Luncheon covers were arranged for eight.

PLAYERS PLAN PICNIC SUPPER

Community Players will be picnicking in Lowell park at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, Aug. 6. Those attending are asked to provide their own wieners, buns, a dish to share, and table service.

Mrs. Charles Redebaugh is chairman of the hostess committee. Assisting her are Mrs. Paul Black, Mrs. H. C. Reeder, and Mrs. Louis Leydig. Anyone without means of transportation is asked to notify the committee.

AT HORSE SHOW

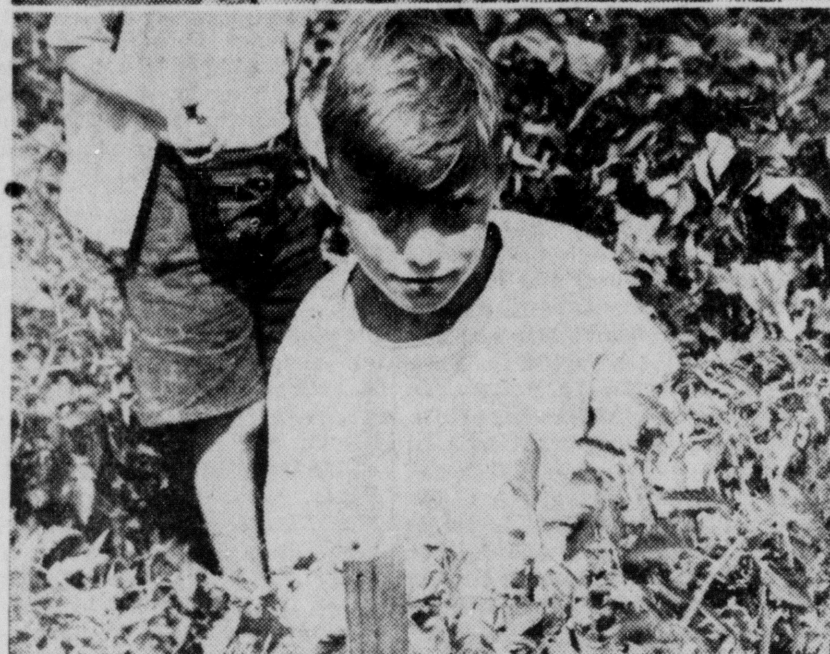

Miss Sarah Hasselberg is vacationing in Champaign and Urbana, visiting Miss Eleanor Jane Lang and attending the Society Horse show. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hasselberg expect to go to the university cities on Friday for their daughter.

Park District Sponsors New Project for Its Summer Playground Program

—Telegraph Photo and Engraving.

Encouraged and directed by various civic-minded townspeople, some 30 Dixon children have been learning what they can do to help in the war emergency—and are having the time of their young lives, too. The project is the Victory garden plots at Harrison and River streets, that are the pride and joy of the young tillers of the soil who are doing a new kind of pioneering in the supervised playground program of the Dixon Park district.

Miss Esther Barton, principal of the Lincoln grade school and member of the Dixon Park district commission, together with Miss Mary Trombold, Lincoln school faculty member and former playground supervisor, inaugurated the Victory garden plan, the park district approved it, and Miss Olive Palmer, who succeeded Miss Trombold as playground supervisor several weeks ago, is bringing the project to a highly-successful climax.

About 35 children from the Lincoln school district, (eight to 11-year-olds) are the gardeners, and have been cultivating the plots by twos, threes and larger groups, as they desire. Seeds were furnished by Mrs. A. C. Bowers' home and garden department of the Dixon Woman's club; the planting was done before school recess by a group of high school boys, directed by Vincent Slothower, agricultural instructor; W. J. Barry, superintendent of parks, provided the youngsters with claws (convenient little gadgets for prodding weeds away from plants); and J. H. Boyer, whose garden is nearby, has assisted in innumerable ways, from staking tomatoes to acting as adviser.

From the time the first green shoots peeped through the ground, and through all the sweltering days that followed in the battle against weeds (morning glories have been the chief offender for everyone concerned), the interest and enthusiasm of the young workers has known no bounds. And now that the five "crops" designated for the project—carrots, yellow stringless beans, beets, lima beans, and tomatoes—are producing bumper yields, every visit to the garden brings new joy in a task well done. After the beet crop is harvested, it is planned to plant turnips, or perhaps winter radishes.

At first, instances of mistaken identity resulted in a few casualties among the young plants, as the gardeners struggled with the problem of determining which were weeds and which were vegetables. But the fertile plots have responded to faithful cultivation; cut worms, chinch bugs, and other pests seemingly have recognized the importance of the project and have been conspicuous by their absence, and weather conditions have been ideal. And so, each Monday, Wednesday and Thursday morning sees the children hard at work—later streaming homeward carrying rakes and hoes, with their arms loaded with freshly-gathered vegetables that never tasted half so good before.

One little girl is particularly proud of the 14 jars of yellow beans and four quarts of beets that her grandmother has canned from one of the plots (the workers are rewarded with the privilege of doing as they please with the vegetables they raise). Many tables have been well supplied with fresh vegetables all summer from the gardens; and some of the gardeners have sold their produce, using the proceeds to buy war stamps.

Ava Lu Wallace and Eugene Hill were among the first to produce beets that were big enough to use; and a few weeks ago, there was great excitement throughout the garden as the children gathered to admire the nice big carrots grown by Dickie Nicholas. Rewards for the earliest crops were part of a generous gift of caramels, donated by the Borden company for a recent Play Day and last week's bonfire treat. Victory garden stickers, furnished by Mrs. C. C. Straw, Triple A field woman, decorate the windows at the homes of the gardeners.

At the right, below, Miss Palmer is seen, together with "Butch", one of the young gardeners, who have learned that some work, and some play is much more fun than all play and no work. To the left,

FAMILY GATHERING

Members of the Jacobs family held their first annual reunion on Sunday at the Amboy park. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clark of Paw Paw, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schnoor and Mrs. Gertrude Butler of Ashton, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jacobs of Rockford, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Weisensel of Rochelle, Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Hartzell of Franklin Grove, and Mr. and Mrs. Modest Gehant of Compton.

ST. JAMES PICNIC

Members of the St. James Aid society and their families have been invited to the Randall Green home for their annual picnic, following morning services at the church on Sunday. Picnic rules will prevail.

MORE THAN 100 OGLE COUNTY GIRLS TO STAGE STYLE REVUE IN OREGON COLISEUM, FRIDAY

4-H club girls of Ogle county will take over the Oregon coliseum on Friday for their annual Achievement Day program. More than 100 girls will participate in the afternoon style revue, modeling garments they have made during the season, and two state specialists—Mrs. Elsie Butler, state 4-H club leader, University of Illinois, and Miss Fern Carl, clothing specialist—will assist Miss Gladine Rutz, home advisor, with the day's educational program. The public is invited to attend.

As a 4-H club member, each girl develops, under the direction of a local leader, a piece of work that will demonstrate or teach an improved practice in personal or family living. Through the various activities connected with the club program, an effort is made to interest the girl, not only in improved personal and family living, but also in the welfare of her community and in good citizenship.

Friday's program has been outlined as follows:

9:00 a. m.—Booth display; 10 a. m.—Special numbers: Tonette trio, Charlotte Lazier, Ruth Holmes and Francis Knight, Willing Workers club; vocal duet, Dorothy and Betty Kuntzelman, Egan 4-H club; clarinet solo, Barbara Hubbard. Demonstrations: First Aid preparedness, Patricia Davidson, Woo Lo club; "Susie Straight and Sally Slouch," Pine Needles club; "How to Make and Bake Muffins," Mabel Dunahoo and Gladys Blume, Willing Workers club; "Home Grown Health," Maryland Maids club; "Methods of Preserving Vegetables," Adalade Hayes and Barbara Hubbard, White Rock Busy Bees; "Salads," Lorena Gocken, Hearty Hustlers; "Calcium in Milk," Hearty Hustlers; "Table Setting," Hattie Jane Brass and Louise Bishop, Paynes Point 4-H club; "Proper Home," Egan 4-H club; "Sleeve Fitting," Helen Ritchie and Louise Balch, Dement Tip Top club; vocal duet, Donna Jones and Juanita Pettitt, Pine Needles club.

Afternoon Program

2 p. m.—Special numbers: Piano solo, Eloise Whitmer, Woo Lo club; vocal solo, Frances Mickle, Dement Tip Top club; song and dance, Corliss Cross, Hearty Hustlers club; piano solo, Doris Mae Vietmer, Maryland Maids club; style revue; recognition of leaders and county 4-H committee.

DESSERT-BRIDGE

One of few bridge clubs that have continued play during the summer met yesterday at Mrs. George McGraham's home for a dessert course, with contract games following. Mrs. Earl Kennedy and Mrs. O. F. Goeke won prizes at the card tables. Mrs. L. L. McGinnis is to be the next hostess.

IOWANS ARE TO HAVE REUNION

Natives of the state of Iowa will congregate in Lowell park on Sunday. A picnic dinner will be served at noon.

A Thought for Today

Breach for breath, eye for eye, tooth for tooth; as he hath caused a blemish in a man, so shall it be done to him again.—Leviticus 24:20.

The ways of the gods are long, but in the end they are not without strength.—
Euripides.

Our Nation's Strength

In a recent radio address, A. C. Mattei, president of the Honolulu Oil Company, said this of the war: "Victory will emerge on the side which has access to the greatest number of natural resources.
Victory will remain with the side which makes of these natural resources the most intelligent use."

"The natural resources of the United States are our greatest material asset. We have been endowed with an abundance of oil, coal and natural gas—with water power and timber—with vast deposits of iron, zinc, lead, copper and a host of other important materials."

"Peacetime thinking takes most things for granted—including the high state of development of natural resources. Under the stress of war, we begin to think because we must. Then only, do we realize that such development as ours did not happen by accident."

"It is the immediate and tangible result of the initiative of free men—of labor and capital operating on the basis of free competition—operating under a free economic system."

A few figures show what that free system has done for us. Last year, we produced 800,000,000 tons of steel—half the total production of the world.
We produced 450,000,000 tons of soft coal, which furnished two-thirds of the heat, light, power and energy used by the nation. We produced 1,250-000,000 barrels of petroleum, which drove our 28-000,000 automobiles, fueled the navy, lubricated our machinery, heated homes, etc. And we produced 280,000,000 kilowatt hours of electric power for the industries, homes and farms of America.

No nation on earth can point to a record even remotely comparable to this. The free enterprise system—a system which assures all individuals the greatest possible degree of economic and social freedom—has given us a productive plant of unprecedented size and efficiency, even as it has given the people unparalleled luxuries and earning power. That is the system we are fighting to defend with all our wealth, all our energies, all our manpower. The winning of this war will depend on how well that system is used.

Too much politics—too much reform—too much tearing down of the system which made us great—these have hampered the American war effort.
They have produced waste, discord, red tape, mal-lingering. We have the resources. We have the industries and the men who know how to use them to maximum effect. They must be encouraged to do a job which will have two endings—victory in foreign war, and the preservation of liberty at home.

Banking Job Well Done

The superb work being done by the banks in these unpredictable days deserves nation-wide attention. No industry has more swiftly or efficiently adapted itself to the unprecedented demands imposed by this war.

The banks have literally placed all of their resources at the disposal of defense industries. It has been said on high authority that no needed defense work has been delayed for lack of bank financing.

The banks have done an extremely effective job —and a job which produces them no profit whatsoever—in selling Defense Bonds and Stamps to the public.

The banks have taken on and discharged many new tasks—such as cashing checks and providing bank accounts for troops at cantonments and forts.

The banks have cooperated fully with the Treasury Department in the exceedingly intricate work of freezing the financial resources of industries and individuals of enemy nations.

A full list of bank achievements would be a long one. Banking has proved its ability to gear itself to the needs of war no less than to the needs of peace.

Blood Money

Despite all the talk to the effect that the labor problem has been generally settled, for the duration, the fact remains that no man can get a job in most industries unless he belongs to a union, pays dues to a union, and accepts dictation from a union.

The closed shop amounts to a labor monopoly of the worst kind—a monopoly exercised by labor leaders who are responsible to no one, not even the government.

If the 100 per cent closed shop goal is reached, labor dictators will be more powerful than government itself. They will have an absolute stranglehold over all instruments of production and distribution.

Witness use of such power in slowing up war production to enforce demands. Refusal of thousands to work in defense industries on Washington's birthday except at overtime pay, is an example of unpatriotic or disloyal action hard to equal. Our soldiers are dying on many fronts because such actions have held up vital supplies. Double time for overtime should be called "blood money" today.

Scrimgeours

As our humble contribution to the lexicon of this war, may we explain how the verb "to scrimgeour" and the adjective "scrimgeouring" may come into everyday use?

The Scrimgeour family—William, his wife and his sons, Maxwell and C. Bailey—averaged only $420 a day each during 1941, as sales engineers in connection with war contracts. Horace Ward averaged $780 a day for 18 months and F. C. Nichols, A. P. Shirley and F. D. Olcott averaged $1,150 each day this year in similar activity, all perfectly legal.
But there isn't much color to "warding" or "nicholing" or "shirleying" or "olcottling." The Scrimgeours happen to have a name that few will remember how to spell but most will recognize when they see it again.

So from now on, when we hear of "sales engineers" making fortunes out of military contracts, while soldiers die all over the globe at $50 a month and "found," what could be more natural than to think of "scrimgeouring"?

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, July 28 — Representative Lyndon Johnson tipped a few high officials' chairs over backwards when he came back from the Far East battlefront and criticized our planes as well as our fighting leaders.

His criticism came forth the same day it was announced that American flyers had used British planes in their first raid on the continent, instead of their own.

Also at least one aviation manufacturer in this country has been heard complaining lately that our program puts too much emphasis on quantity, too little on quality.

The inference from all these and other similar murmurings is that our fighting ships are inferior to both the Japs and the British.

Such drastic conclusions however do not seem warranted. If they were true, we certainly have the most colossal assembly of dunderheads ever assembled, in charge of choosing planes for our fighting services.

They have known all about the Japs, as well as the British ships, for many months, and only the most extravagant stupidity could possibly have prevented them from using the vast mechanical facilities and genius of American production.

But the situation is hardly so clear cut. The Jap ships, for instance, seem to be superior in some qualities, the British in others, and ours in still more.

You cannot have maneuverability, fast climbing and speed in planes without neglecting armor, firepower and self-sealing gas tanks. The Japs, the British and our people have been required to choose which of these qualifications they wanted and which they would sacrifice.

Now no cautious reporter will attempt to do anything more in the current argument among aviation technicians than report the full facts, without expressing arbitrary judgment. The other side of Mr. Johnson's story, as I gather it here, is this:

The Jap Zero is superior to our navy fighters in climbing ability and speed, but it is very vulnerable. An AP dispatch recently claimed new Jap models are sacrificing their speed to put on more armor. The Zero has no armor now, and does not carry self-sealing gas tanks. One hit and it is gone.

In combat, so far, our planes have proved more than a match for the Japs, due perhaps in some part to our superiority in armor, firepower and self-sealing tanks, but most of all because our pilot efficiency is greatly superior to the Japs.

Our PBV flying boats (long-range patrol bombers), however, is one type of ship that has been no match for the Jap Zeros, but our Flying Fortresses are supreme.

New navy planes will be coming along as soon as present orders are finished, and promise correction of some of our defects.

The Army started off with planes similar to the light firepower and protection of the Zeros, as did the British, but these were soon abandoned.

Earlier models of our P-40 proved greatly inferior to both the British and Japs. But a British communique Sunday paid high tribute to the new P-51, our latest North American pursuit ship.

Allied Patrols Drive Japs Back in New Guinea

Fighting Takes Place 60 Miles From Port
Moresby

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, July 29.—(AP) — Allied patrols have driven strong and aggressive Japanese units back from advanced outposts they occupied in the vicinity of Kokoda, New Guinea, only 60 miles from the most advanced allied base at Port Moresby, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

From their newly occupied base at Gona Mission on the northeastern coast of the Papuan peninsula, the Japanese patrols have advanced 55 miles inland in less than a week and have clashed with allied patrols near the small government station of Kokoda.

Troops of General MacArthur's command pushed back the invaders yesterday while allied bombers in three different attacks smashed at the enemy installations and supply stores at Gona mission.

Kokoda is a small town with an airdrome, a rubber plantation and a few buildings. It is situated in hilly country and behind it the Owen Stanley range rises to a height of 8,000 feet and more.

A headquarters spokesman said it still was uncertain whether the probing action of the Japanese was a mere patrol maneuver or the preliminary advance to an attack on Port Moresby.

The spokesman said there was no evidence of reinforcements for the Japanese forces at Gona mission, which originally were estimated to number between 1,500 and 2,500.

Allied bomber units attacked the airdrome in Japanese-occupied Koepong, Dutch Timor, again and scored hits in the target area.

shipped overseas, while our production has placed emphasis on big bombers which can be flown over. The British are supposed to fly our bombers in England, while we use their pursuits.

For these reasons, little official notice was taken of the Johnson charges or other critical murmur-ings. The men in authority seem to concede, by their explanations cited above, that all our ships are not the best in the world, that much remains to be done, although they, at least, seem to be satisfied that they are doing it.

Certain it is, that the isolated engagements in which we have been involved so far have proved that our fighting men have what it takes to win. Our leadership and our equipment still has not been so thoroughly tested as yet.

Until they are tested, no outsider can safely reach conclusions as to their efficiency. At least evidence will be lacking upon which any drastic changes can be forced by public opinion.

Meanwhile, the Johnson charges will serve constructively to build fires under the powers that be and force them to the utmost of their ability.

The couple were attended by the bridegroom's uncle and cousin, Herman Bick and Miss Elizabeth
Bick, both of Elizabeth, N. J.

The bride pinned a corsage of orchids to the shoulder of her white jersey dress. She formerly attended Manlius high school and Carthage college, and during the past year, taught a rural school near Manlius. She plans to resume her teaching duties in Bu-

ST. LOUIS CARDS WIN SECOND GAME, 9 TO 1, TO SPLIT WITH BROOKLYN

Brooks Take First Match by 7-6 Score

Sox Lose to Yankee Power; Cubs Drop Pair to N. Y. Giants

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Baseball is generally considered a "form" sport, but sometimes it forms the strangest shapes.

The Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals came to grips yesterday in what was expected to be a desperate doubleheader, with the National league champions striving to hold their seven-game lead and the Redbirds making what might be their last challenge.

The set-up was such that 33,212 paying customers turned out on a Tuesday to pack the Dodgers' Ebbets field and thousands of others failed to get seats.

So what happened? The two titans stumbled around for six hours and split the bill, settling nothing in particular. Brooklyn won the first game, 7-6. Each team made three errors and all of the Dodgers' runs were unearned except a homer by Johnny Rizzo in the eighth inning that decided the outcome. The Dodgers drove Lefty Ernie White to cover with five runs in the first, but the Cardinals kept chipping away till they tied at six-all and chased Larry French to the showers in the sixth inning. Curt Davis received credit for the victory, his tenth.

Seven in Seventh
The nightcap was interrupted for half an hour by weather in the third chapter while Kirby Higbe was leading Max Lanier 1-0. Later the Cards scored seven runs in the seventh inning and won 9-1, getting 16 hits to Brooklyn's six.

There were other funny doings, too. The Washington Senators made seven errors but stopped the St. Louis Browns 9-4. The Brownies, who had won 15 of their previous 18 games, were held to six hits by Alex Carrasquel, but had 14 men left on base.

The Boston Red Sox inflated their second place margin to two full games by beating the Cleveland Indians again 3-1 with all their runs coming on Ulysses Lupien's double with the bases loaded in the second inning.

At Chicago Lefty Ed Smith absorbed his 17th shelling as the New York Yankees overpowered the White Sox 8-3 with Joe DiMaggio, Charley Keller and Joe Gordon hitting home runs.

Three Cub Homers
At New York the Giants swept a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs 9-5 and 3-0. The first seven Giants to come to bat in the first inning of the first game made hits, one of them a homer by Willard Marshall with two on, to give Carl Hubbell a six-run start. After that it didn't make much difference that Dom Dalsandro hit two home runs and Stan Hack one for the Cubs.

In the second game Hal Schumacher pitched three-hit shutout ball to beat the four-hit hurling of Johnny Schmitz and Tot Presnell. The Cincinnati Reds took both ends of a doubleheader with the Phils 8-1 and 3-1. Johnny Vander Meer allowed only two hits in the opener. Ray Starr hurled a five-hitter in the second game to get his 13th victory.

At Boston Johnny Sain, making his first start for the Braves, hurled three-hit shutout ball for eight innings and then let the Pittsburgh Pirates tie the score at three all in the ninth. The Braves won 4-3 when Nanny Fernandez bunted with the bases loaded to squeeze across the deciding run.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

New York, July 29.—If you used to think football was a rough, tough game and boxing entirely too dangerous for school and college boys, wait until the coaches come back from those short-term courses that start next week at the navy's pre-flight schools. . . They'll have just two weeks to catch the navy's idea of playing for keeps with no time out for minor cuts and abrasions, but a lot of pampered athletes probably will think the coach has been clear through a war when he starts to put that lesson into effect. . . And if any of them need a substitute for an obstacle course to toughen the boys up, we'd suggest staging a 100-yard dash up a rocky trout stream bed with the runners wearing hip boots—full of water. . .

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEMS HURT COLLEGE SPORTS

Athletic Events Will Have to Be Taken to Fans

Cincinnati, July 29.—(AP)—Transportation difficulties, already pinching the average person, are about to become a real pain to college athletic programs.

That's the belief expressed today as the men who keep their fingers on the pulse of intercollegiate athletic activities—conference commissioners—concluded a three-day discussion of how war is affecting the sports picture.

Here's how they sized up the situation:

Some football games have been moved, and more will be, from small towns to large population centers for two reasons: To ease transportation problems of fans, and to make games available to more people as a beneficial morale influence.

Due to war demands on rail and bus services colleges will have to abandon chartered cars and buses and reduce athletic squads to fit limited space available on public carriers. Long trips by squads engaged in minor sports, such as golf, tennis and fencing, will be curtailed or eliminated.

"As far as football is concerned, it will mean taking the games to the crowds," said Asa Bushnell of the Eastern Intercollegiate Association. "Football is a vital war sport, and colleges will cooperate in handling transportation problems arising from big games."

"There will be no special football trains for fans this year and colleges want fans who will drive short distances to share rides with friends and conserve tires."

SHOWY SUGAR ROBINSON PICKED TO KAYO ANGOTT

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

New York, July 29.—Sammy Angott has pushed and pulled and hugged and tugged himself out of many a tough spot, but numerous sharpshooters suspect he is conceding Ray Robinson a bit too much in their 10-round match at Madison Square Garden, July 31.

Lightweight champion Angott is spotting Sugar Robinson speed, punch, weight, height, reach and age.

Spoiler Angott has climbed out of the resin innumerable times, but a lot of the boys have an idea he final round arrived had almost brought the contest to even terms. Robinson got the decision, but veteran observers believed Angott most surely would have scored had the scrap been a 12-rounder. The Negro youth was thoroughly spent at the finish.

Angott's story is that he took Robinson for a nobody then and will be on his toes this time.

But he also will find that Robinson has come a long way since their last outing.

Robinson is the last fighter to win from Angott, who went on to win there to win a clear claim to the lightweight leadership in a joust with Looney Lew Jenkins.

Among less important starts, Angott twice repelled Bob Montgomery in non-title affairs and successfully defended his crown by the grace of a highly debatable decision over Allie Stolz.

Robinson, in the year since he fought Angott, moved out of the lightweight division into the welter.

Robinson Has Won 121 Fights In Row

He has the remarkable record of being unbeaten in 121 fights—89 as an amateur and 32 as a professional. As a simon-pure he knocked out 63, as a pro 25. He repelled Coast Guardsman Marty Servo in his last start—a sizzler.

Robinson will weigh around 142, Angott 138.

Sammy Angott has a way of making the other fellow look worse than he does, but it will take a lot of crowding, elbowing and heeling to make a show of showy Sugar Robinson.

RELISHES REMATCH

New York, July 29.—(AP)—While Sammy Angott may lose a fight here and there along the way, no fighter who's ever licked him, Angott has been able to make it stick. That's why Ray Robinson, the all-winning "Sugar-Man" from Harlem, may be grabbing at a hot one he can't hold in their Madison Square Garden shindig Friday night.

Anyway, the bookmakers rate Ray only a 1 to 2 choice today, even though he's supposed to be the hottest thing to come down the pike since Joe Sammy Angott.

Robinson took a ten-round decision from Sammy last fall. He caught the Pennsylvania pounder a thump on the whiskers in the second round that all but put Sammy to sleep, and then had to go all out to hold off Angott's closing rush which won three of the last four heats.

So Friday's fuss is a return go, and if there's one thing Sammy likes better than pay-day it's a second crack at someone who's whipped him once.

RAIDERS MUFF AN OPPORTUNITY TO TAKE OVER LEAD

(By The Associated Press)

Cedar Rapids had a chance to take over undisputed leadership in the Three Eye league last night, but muffed the opportunity by splitting a double header with Evansville.

It was just a matter of starting too late, for the Red Raiders scored in all but two innings of the second game in trouncing Evansville, 17 to 1, after losing the opener, 3 to 1.

The even break left Cedar Rapids still a half game behind pace setting Springfield, which ran into a postponement at Madison. In yesterday's other game Waterloo rallied to defeat Decatur, 11 to 8, after trailing the Commies at one time 7-0.

Today's schedule: Evansville at Cedar Rapids; Decatur at Waterloo, Springfield at Madison, postponed.

HEMSLEY EXCEEDS RED HIT TOTAL IN WEEK WITH YANKS

By NEA Service

Detroit — Rollicking Rolie Hemsley was eating breakfast at a hotel the morning before a Sunday game with the Detroit Tigers.

"I hope I get a hit today," he told a friend. "If I do, it will give me as many hits in one week with the Yankees as I had all season with the Cincinnati Reds."

The former playboy rapped out two safe blows that afternoon to give him 14 hits in one week with the New Yorks against 13 at Cincinnati. His average stood at .412 compared with a Rhineland mark of .114.

JEANNE CLINE THROUGH IN TITLE DRIVE

Meets Virginia Nilles in Quarter Finals of Women's Meet

Peoria, Ill., July 29.—(AP)—The youthful and ambitious Jeanne Cline is leaving little undone in the way of the spectacular in her drive toward a State Women's Golf championship.

While the gallery still reflected on her medal victory Monday and yesterday's easy first round match play conquest, which she supplemented with an attempt at a new course record, the 18 year old Bloomington girl today sought to remove another obstacle in the path to the title she just missed winning last year.

Her quarter final opponent was Virginia Nilles of Evanston.

Yesterday Miss Cline disposed of Betty Mackemer of Peoria at the 12th hole, 7 and 6. Two under women's par figures at that point, she decided to continue play in an effort to better the course record of 75. She was well on her way to accomplishing this until she hit the 500 yard 17th hole. There she took an eight and wound up in the 18 holes with another 76, three over par and the same score she posted to win the medal in qualifying play.

Favorites Come Through

Other favorites also breezed through their first round matches. Results follow:

Virginia Ingram, Winnetka, defeated Mrs. H. R. Topping, Peoria, 7 and 6; Marjorie Lindsay, Decatur, defeated Mrs. D. C. Dodd, Champaign, 6 and 4; Dorothy Foster, Springfield, defeated Betty Ohnemus, Quincy, 6 and 4; Ruth More, Peoria, defeated Betty Hamerlund, Bloomington, 5 and 4; Ruth Tenk, Quincy, defeated Grace Stone, Peoria, 4 and 3; Virginia Nilles, Evanston, defeated Ann Lewis, Bloomington, 3 and 2; and Harriet Ochiltree, Niles, defeated Mrs. P. H. Waggoner, Decatur, 3 and 2.

The pairings for today's round: Cline vs. Nilles; Foster vs. Tenk; Ingram vs. Ochiltree; More vs. Lindsay.

At a business meeting yesterday, Mrs. A. M. Pike of Aurora was elected president of the Illinois Women's Golf Association, succeeding Mrs. O. D. Mann of Danville. Miss Tenk was named vice president and Mrs. Charles Dyer of Hoopston, secretary-treasurer.

Answers

1. Paul Waner (Aug. 26, 1926); Tony Cuccinello (Aug. 13, 1931); Terry Moore (Sept. 5, 1935); Ernie Lombardi (May 9, 1937).
2. Medwick. He hit 64 in 1936.
3. The all-time record for homers by a National League pitcher in one season. The record is 6, set by Hal Schumacher in 1934. Abbadaba had 5 so far this year, last time I looked.
4. If Fletcher leads the National League in drawing bases on balls this year, it will be his 3rd straight year. That's the record. George Burns, of the old Giants, led in 1919, 1920 and 1921. Mel Ott led in 1931-2, 3, and Arky Vaughn, in 1934-5. Fletcher is the current BE king. His 1940 pile of 119 and last year's 118 put him way out in front both years.
5. 19. Yes. Eddie Joost, Cincinnati Reds' shortstop. He had his big day May 7 of last year. The only other 19-chance shortstop performance in major league history was by Danny Richardson, of the old Washington Nations, way back June 20, 1892.

Color Contrasts Make Difference in Factory Work

Eyestrain Might Lead to Accidents, Lower Morale

New York, July 29.—(Wide World)—Looking for a bat in a coal mine at midnight is no harder on the eyes than the tasks set before workers by some bosses who mean well but forget that color contrasts make a difference in getting a job done.

Good lighting in a plant or office is not enough. An extreme example of a bad situation is a man working on a black object against a black machine. That can cause eyestrain. Eyestrain can cause accidents and lower morale.

Faber Birren, industrial color consultant writing in the current Dun's Review and Architectural Forum, says:

"A worker standing at a lathe may suffer eyestrain by trying to discern a piece of dark metal against an equally dark and oily background.

"An increase of illumination may afford little if any improvement—for the dark metal may still lack sufficient contrast with the ground.

Painting Is Solution

"A simple coat of paint applied to the machine, however, may do the job perfectly. x x x"

Birren notes that there are many strange inter-relationships between ease of seeing and the functioning of the human body.

"Where there is eye strain," he says, "physical reactions are to be noted in a generally nervous condition, increased muscular tension, more rapid blinking of the lids, decreased heart action, headache, nausea, fatigue."

Putting a slap-dash coating of white paint on the inside walls of a plant or office doesn't solve the problem of good illumination, according to Birren who says:

"To build up illumination, brick walls are painted white. Brick walls have a reflectance factor of about 10; white paint a reflectance factor of 80 or better. Why not paint everything white?"

White Also Bad

"But, if dingy walls are bad, the next worst color is white—almost without exception. It may seem contradictory to pound with the left hand for more light and then use the right hand to paint it out.

"Walls in most industrial interiors, however, are generally some distance from working areas. Even when they reflect 70 or 80 percent of the light it makes little difference in the level of illumination in working areas.

"But it is a law of vision that the eye is attracted by the lightest thing in its field of view, and for this reason light walls become a distraction.

"Another law of vision is that the pupil opening is regulated chiefly by the brightness that exists over the larger area of vision. Practically everything handled in industry—metal, wood, cloth—has a lower brightness than white paint.

"So the white wall constructs the pupil size, while the job to be done demands that it open to admit more light."

Hayride A Success

One of the happiest sights we have been permitted to see in several years was Friday night when three hayracks full of happy young folks going some place for a weiner roast. The first rack was drawn by a team of horses owned by Bob Crawford and driven by Albert Fryman. The next two racks went just a little modern and were drawn by tractors. The first one was loaned by Ralph D. Buik and driven by Dale Jasper. The second one was loaned by Ralph Pyles and driven by his son Raymond Pyles. After a drive around the town they finally landed at "Sunday's Bridge" where a weiner and marshmallow roast was enjoyed by the seventy-five young folks. Rev. Montanum proved his skill in building a bonfire. After a jolly time at the "Bridge" they returned home the longest way around. Of course no joy ride is complete without an accident. So one of the wheels came off of one of the wagons which did no damage but furnished lots of fun. Rev. and Mrs. S. L. Cover, Rev. and Mrs. T. B. Reeves accompanied the young folks. The Apron-Overall hayride was such a success that the committee is planning another Young People's party for some time in August.

Methodist Church

T. B. Reeves, pastor

Facing the facts means facing the future and some of the facts of the present don't present a too hopeful future. Especially when we consider the way that our army camps are being exploited by the liquor concerns. No football coach would sell beer to his players just before the big game, but the government sells beer to the soldiers and this game is the biggest the nation has ever played. Can a sincere patriot keep quiet in such times?

'hey'll Do It Every Time

We would be happy to have you worship with us Sunday.

10 a. m. Morning worship. Sermon, "A Hungry Prodigal".

9 a. m. Sunday school. Fred Gross, superintendent.

All Church Night

The all church night of the Methodist church is being planned for August 17 in the church yard. The men of the church will serve the supper which will be around the new fireplace. Everyone is invited.

War-Time Educational Program

The Brooklyn township chairmen, Gene Englehart and John Gallisath, with Mrs. Maxine Gilmore, co-chairman, state that the war-time educational program is well under way. Several school districts have had their meetings and others are planning one so that each family of their district will be contacted personally to study over our war time problems. The object of the first meeting is to give the farm people a clear understanding of what is involved in the inflation problem which faces our country today. Plans for harvesting and storing soybeans, preservation of home or locally raised food, and prevention of waste of human efforts through fire and accidents. Other important meetings will follow. The chairmen and co-chairman have appointed the following leaders and co-leaders of the districts:

124—Mr. and Mrs. John Gable.

125—Mrs. Vesta Pasley and Fred Gilmore.

126—Mrs. Edna Irwin, Alvin Beemer.

127—Mrs. Margaret Carnahan, Jess Augenbaugh.
